

Denmark- Fyn Cycling the Fairytale Island Family Tour (2025)

Individual Self Guided

8 Days / 7 Nights

The island of Fyn is often referred to as the garden of Denmark. Renowned for its fruit there might be something to the talk about this wonderful island. Fyn is also in the centre of Denmark, making the island very accessible from both Copenhagen Airport and with the train directly from the rest of Europe. South of Fyn lies the archipelago with small picturesque islands connected by ferries, offering both a break in the bike riding and also an experience of being off the beaten track where time and fastness is not that important. The landscape is really welcoming and scenic with a good variation of flat distances and gentle hills. Our tours start in Odense, Denmark's 3rd largest city. Odense is very accessible by car and train. There are direct train connections to the airport in Copenhagen (1½-2 hours), making transfers easy and comfortable.

Day 1

Arrive on your own to Odense and prepare for a relaxing and exiting tour. If you have booked a rental bike you will find it at the hotel. There are plenty of attractions for children – and their parents – in Odense. Tonight you stay in Odense.

Day 2 Odense – Brobyværk (approx. 25 kms)

Odense is the capital of Fyn – and also well known as the birthplace of author Hans Christian Andersen. It is worth to have a stroll around the city. From urban environment out into rural landscape on minor roads, starting to experience the idyllic scenery of Denmark's garden. Today you end up in Brobyværk – a charming village where the Odense Å (Odense river) runs through.

Day 3 Brobyværk – Faaborg (approx. 20 kms)

Heading south towards the “Alps of Fyn” today's route gives you both very nice looks over the water and also comfortable challenges in the gently hilled landscape. You pass small villages and century old churches and approaching your destination – the old harbour town of Faaborg – you start overlooking the archipelago of south Fyn, where you might spot a local ferry or the sail of an old wooden ship. Faaborg itself offers small streets to stroll and old houses to create a very specific atmosphere.

Day 4 Faaborg – Ærø (Aeroe) – Svendborg (approx. 25 kms)

Today it's your turn to literally experience the archipelago: you start off with the ferry from Faaborg to the island of Ærø (Aeroe). The trip lasts one hour and you can enjoy the beautiful scenery while arriving “the proper way” to a real island: by boat. Landing harbour on Ærø is Søby (Soeby) from where you follow small roads to the fascinating town of Ærøskøbing (Aeroeskoebing). Old houses and cobblestoned streets await you – along with an interesting history. Remember your camera! From Ærøskøbing you take another ferry back to Fyn and arrive at Svendborg, where you stay 2 nights. An alternative to the ferries and the visit to Ærø is to bike directly from Faaborg to Svendborg – approx. the same distance, but saving the time and costs of the ferries.

Day 5 Svendborg

Svendborg is the maritime centre of Fyn. Just next to the quay of the ferry from Ærø is “Træskibsbroen” (the wooden ships bridge), where you can be lucky to see a very fine collection of old wooden ships. The city itself offers shopping, attractions, restaurants – and of for the children especially Naturama is worth a visit. You might also take a daytrip in the surroundings – and maybe visit the castle Egeskov, hosting a fine collection of old cars and aeroplanes.

Day 6 Svendborg – Odense (approx. 69 kms)

From Svendborg we suggest you take the local train back to Odense. The ride lasts 40-45 minutes and runs through the beautiful landscape of Southern Fyn. You can of course also choose to take the bus – or even bike: there is a good local route with a distance of approx. 69 kms. Back in Odense you can enjoy the city and stroll around the cozy center

Day 7 Odense

A full day to shop, visit attractions, sit on cafés – or maybe take to bus to Kerteminde for a visit at the Fjord & Bælt -center (“Fiord and Belt Centre”) – or maybe have an ice cream at the harbour – before you head back for Odense, enjoying even more beautiful scenery, timbered houses and lovely gardens on the way.

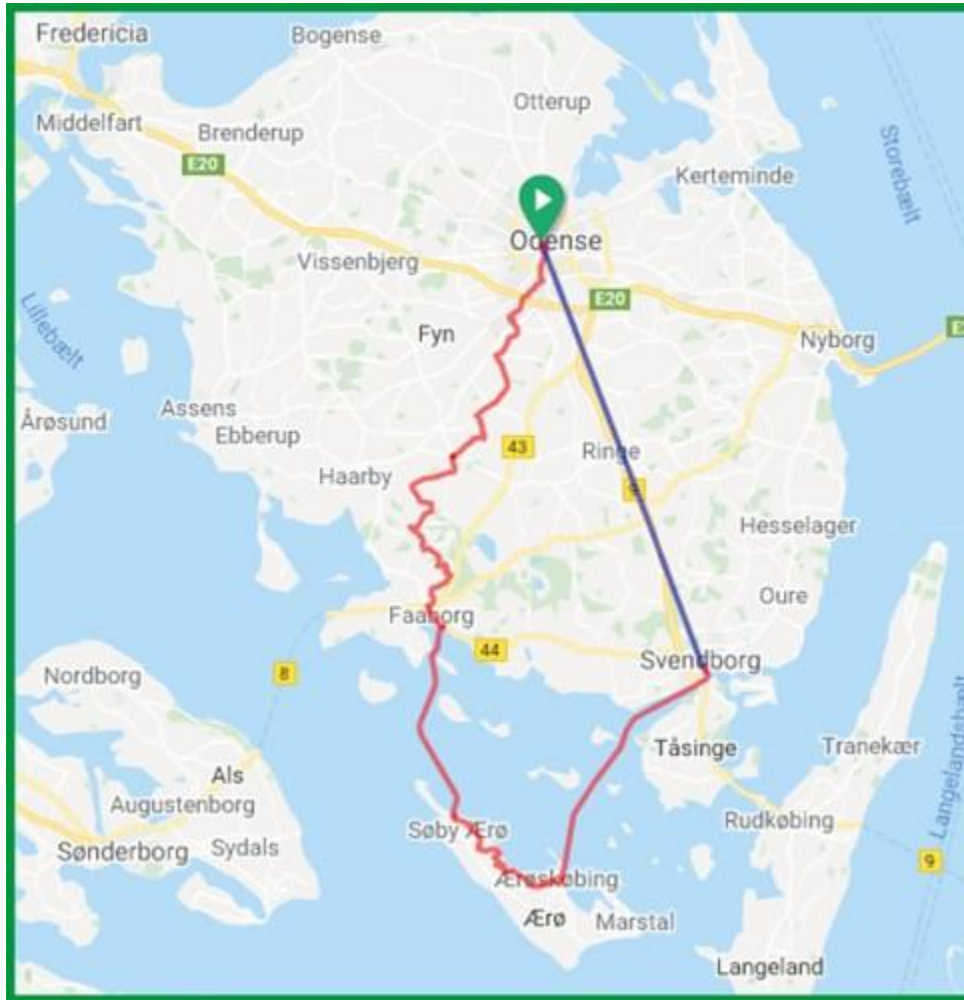

Day 8

Time to travel home – or maybe to extend your holiday with a day or two extra in Odense – or maybe in Copenhagen.
