

Spain- Walking Santiago to Finisterre (2024-2025)

7 Days/6 Nights

Individual Self-Guided

Known as the Costa da Morte (Coast of Death), this part of northern Spain was the furthest known land until explorers set sail in the Middle Ages. In pre-Roman times, people believed this was the place where souls rose to heaven, understandable when you witness the sun slipping into the vast ocean.

The Camino Santiago to Finisterre extends the Way of St James from Santiago de Compostela to the 'end of the Earth', a mystical and symbolic place to complete your journey. This Camino, although ancient, is far less travelled than those that end in Santiago, leaving you to fully appreciate the tranquil beauty of this unspoilt part of Galicia with few distractions.

Day by Day

Day 1: Arrival to Santiago de Compostela

Arrive in Santiago de Compostela and take some time to explore this atmospheric old city. When you check into your hotel, you will receive your Welcome Kit, which contains all the information you need to fully enjoy this self-guided walking holiday. Accommodation: 3 stars hotel

Day 2: Walk from Santiago de Compostela to Ponte Maceira (17km / 10.5 miles)

As you leave from Santiago, make a point of looking back at the city for memorable views. The rest of today's walk takes you through leafy woodland and green fields broken up with intermittent villages. Cross a Roman bridge and end the stage in the pleasant town of Ponte Maceira. Accommodation: 3 stars Country hotel Meals: Breakfast

Day 3: Walk from Ponte Maceira to Santa Mariña (24km / 15 miles)

You'll need an early start and a good breakfast to help you manage the long, gradual climb out of Negreira. One you reach the ridge, you can enjoy the pretty forest paths, peaceful rural roads and attractive scenery all the way to the village of Santa Mariña. Accommodation: 3 stars Country hotel Meals: Breakfast

Day 4: Walk from Santa Mariña to Olveiroa (13km / 8.1 miles)

This stage is relatively short so you can have a late start to recover from the previous day. Follow country lanes and enjoy the scenery as you climb to Monte Aro before your final descent into the village of Olveiroa. Accommodation: 2 stars hotel Meals: Breakfast

Day 5: Walk from Olveiroa to Cee (20km / 12.5 miles)

Today's walk is far less hilly and quite scenic, taking you between mountains, windmills and forests for your first sighting of the Atlantic Ocean and Cape Finisterre. Make your way slowly down the steep hill to the charming village of Cee with its small sandy cove and colourful fishing boats. Accommodation: 3 stars hotel Meals: Breakfast

Day 6: Walk from Cee to Finisterre (16km / 10 miles)

The day begins with a climb through Concorbión, after which you'll head back down to the beach. From here, the Way more or less follows the coastline and the extensive Langosteira beach towards Finisterre, offering beguiling views of the cape. The 'end of the world' is further 3 km from the fishing village and marked with a lighthouse. Accommodation: 2/3stars hotel Meals: Breakfast

Day 7: Departure

After breakfast, prepare for your onward journey. Meals: Breakfast
