

Switzerland- Cycling the lakes route from Vevey to Lucerne (2025)

7 Days/ 6 Nights

Individual Self Guided

The Lakes-Route deserves its name, because many lakes touch the route from its beginning at Lake Geneva to its goal at Lake Lucerne. The Route leads through some outstanding touristic regions with great sounding names: Montreux, Gruyères, Gstaad, Interlaken and Lucerne... Whoever completes the Lakes-Route, has seen the most beautiful corners of Switzerland.

Day by Day

Day 1 Arrival to Vevey

Day 2 Vevey – Gruyères/Surroundings 40-50 km ↑600-855 m ↓500-735 m

From the city centre of Vevey, take the rack railway up to the Mont-Pèlerin. Quiet roads lead you to the source of the most popular cheese of Switzerland: the Gruyère, which shares its name with the region. A recent symphony of green melancholy, cowbells and customs.

Day 3 Gruyères/Surroundings – Gstaad/Surroundings 46 km ↑600 m ↓315 m

Postcard country Switzerland: cheeseries, chalets, snowy mountains, cable cars, hotel scent and papercutting. Away from the idyll, the Pays d'Enhaut and the Saaneneland are a magnificent landscape, animated by the haze of celebrity and happy mountain goers.

Day 4 Gstaad/Surroundings – Spiez 53 km ↑385 m ↓810 m

The artfully decorated wooden houses of the Simmental are among the most beautiful in Europe. The Simme remains a wild river that demands a lot from dinghy riders. On to Spiez, a water sports paradises on the cheerful lake Thun.

Day 5 Spiez – Lake Sarnen 60 km ↑1'450 m ↓1'200 m

A boat ride from Spiez to Interlaken in the morning. On the shore of Lake Brienz there is a steep ascent to Meiringen to be completed where you can take the train across the Brünigpass. You reach Obwalden: a small Canton, a big Valley, a pre-alpine landscape with scattered villages, flat lakes and long traditions.

Day 6 Lake Sarnen – Lucerne 35 km ↑240 m ↓310 m

As soon as you get a glimpse of the Lake of Lucerne, the Pilatus is in your path. Bay after bay right to Lucerne, a fixed point for every tourist.

Day 7 Departure or extension

Route

The route is naturally flat along the many lakes - but there are smaller and larger inclines to overcome between the bodies of water: Less sporty cyclists are therefore advised to use an electric bike, which is particularly suitable for this route. Sporty cyclists tackle the stages on touring bikes and shorten the route by public transport if necessary.
