Albufeira

Albufeira is internationally renowned for its gold sandy beaches and turquoise blue waters, sheltered by rocky ochre cliffs.

The shoreline of Albufeira is very inviting for water sports, from windsurfing, diving, or sailing. A boat tour around the caves is a wonderful opportunity for a different day, with visits to secluded beaches only accessible by sea. Albufeira is perfect not only for people yearning for sun and rest. Many golf courses stretch almost to the sea, and all sorts of fun activities are available, like horse riding under the shade of pine trees.

Being a popular resort, Albufeira teems with urban boutiques and arts and crafts shops, where you can still find authenticity in the work of local artisans. Those objects made of clay, palm leaves, copper, and lace, follow centuries' old traditions. The charm of Albufeira doesn't end here. In the fertile green countryside lies a fragrant landscape dotted with almond, fig, orange, and pine trees.

The lacy typical chimneys, a heritage of Moorish architecture, stand out against the red of tiled roofs and the blue skies.

Sleepy whitewashed villages invite you to experience a way of life connected to nature, adding another dimension to your holidays in the Algarve.

Last, but certainly not least, surrender yourself to the excellent Portuguese food and wines. From the fresh fish and shellfish to the sweet local delicacies of almonds, honey, and figs, you will be spoilt for choice!

Monte Gordo

Monte Gordo is a small beach resort, in the East Algarve, near the border with Spain. The beauty of the long beach and the warm, safe waters surrounded by pine woods are ideal for a relaxing long-stay holiday. Live like a local and travel at your leisure, while enjoying Algarve's annual 300 days of sun!

The village counts with a casino, but at the low season, it's a quiet fishing village, with quaint colorful boats and slow-paced life.

Nearby, you have many attractions to visit. Vila Real de Santo António, a historical city on the margins of the Guadiana River, separates Portugal from Spain. The ferry crossing is a good opportunity to appreciate the landscape of rolling hills along the river, and for a late tapas lunch.

Castro Marim, one of the oldest communities in the Algarve, and an important center of Arab power until 1242 has very well preserved monuments, worthy of a tour. From the battlements command, there's an excellent vista to the magnificent salt-pans where traditional salt is produced.

The elegant outline of the flamingos is a common sight. These lovely birds abound in the fertile plains along the banks of the Guadiana River, home for a wealth of other species, thriving in the Castro Marim Nature Reserve.

The area around Monte Gordo is mainly flat and surrounded by pine trees, agreeable for leisure and nature activities, like walking, cycling, or birdwatching.

Another idea is to hop on a train to the lovely city of Tavira, to visit this historic city or to enjoy a relaxing boat tour in the Ria Formosa Nature Park.

Escape from the cold and rainy days! Spend a relaxing time exploring the region and enjoying the amenities on and nearby the beach, classed as accessible for all, and nearly desert when the high season ends.
